We Knew We Had a Good Thing in the Stock of Goods

We bought by electric light a few days since. There is so much clap-trap-Clothing advertisements in vogue just move that we refrained from saying very much about the purchase. We simply called the public's attention to it by telling them to look at the display of these goods in our windows and note the prices on them. We knew we would sell some of them. The warm weather left a doubt as to selling a great many now. The doubt is dispelled. Since the day we opened his purchase and placed them in our with customers anxions to secure these mheard-of bargains. We advise our friends who contemplate buying Fall Suits and Overcoats not to let this opportunity slip. It is only once in a long time that circumstances arise that enable merchants to secure first-class Clothing that can be sold for less money than the cheaply gotten-up stuff that is fooding the market just now.

> As everybody knows, Senator Hann his successor for the remainder of the term for which Senator Sherman was elected, and for the six years which are to follow the expiration of that term Should the Democrats carry the Ohio Legislature they would elect a Senator for the remainder of the term for which Senator Sherman was elected, and also one for the full six-year term which begins March 4th, 1899. Should a Democrat be placed in the seat which Senator Hanna now occupies, Republicans would lose control of the Senate during the re-mainder of the present Congress; hence, great interest is being felt in the Ohio

The Kentucky, Nebraska and Iowa elections, while less important in their bearing upon National politics, are watched with great interest because of the prominence which the silver cause had in the early part of the campaign in each of those states. While none of the officers to be elected in Kentucky and Nebraska in the forthcoming election are to participate in National affairs, or se-lection of a Senator, the issues of last year are so closely related to the contests in both those states that interest in them is very great. This is even more especially true of Iowa, where a part of the Legislature which is to elect a United States Senator will be chosen at the com ing election

While few National Representatives are to be chosen in the elections now at hand; while National affairs do not hinge directly upon the results of these elections, the greatest intereiss felt as to what those results may be because of their bearing upon the issues so prominent in the last campaign. That the silver cause has very rapidly gone to the background since the election last year cannot be doubted. If the Republicans are successful in the close states and the Democrati effort to revive the silver issue in the last moments of the campaign is unsuccessful, the feeling is that the silver cause will not be revived, and will probably cut very little figure in the campaign for members of Congress a year hence.

No official expression is to be had here with reference to the result reached by Senator Walcott and has co-laborers in behalf of international bimetallism. It cannot be said, however, that the assump tion of many newspapers and writers of the country that their trip has proven un-successful and ended the prospects of in-ternational bimetallism is well founded.

Their mission abroad was to consul with other Nations, and learn whether they would be willing to co-operate in steps looking to true bimetalism. The fact that England has not seen fit to pledge herself in advance of any such interna-tional conference to any given line of policy does not prove at all discouraging to the friends of international bimetalism, nor does it convince them that the ism, nor does it convince them that the British Government intends to stand aloof from or frown upon the proposi-tion for international action. On the contrary, it is believed that Great Britain will willingly send delegates to the pro-posed international conference, and be disposed to co-operate in favor of an in-creased use of silver by the concerted ac-tion on the part of all Nations. tion on the part of all Nations.

The fact that she has not pledged her elf in advance to any given line of pol icy is not at all surprising, nor does i prove that she will decline co-operation with other Nations when a full confer ence with these Nations can be had.

is adopted and our cities and towns are enabled by act of the Legislature to ad-just their local taxes so as to foster man-ufacturing and other enterprises, which build up population, the farmer will be indirectly greatly benefited—first, by the in-creased number of consumers for what he raises, resident in our cities and towns, and, second, by the additional property which they bring into the state, and which will be taxed for the state and county purposes exactly on the same basis as a farm outside city or town lim-its, thus increasing the assessed value of property in state and county, and bringing about a reduction in the rate of state and county taxes upon it.

From no reasonable view of the question can we find where the farmer can possibly be hurt by the adoption of the amendment. Let us therefore consider its effect on the residents of our cities and towns.

It is not claimed by the opponents of the amendment that it will work any hardship to any city or town residents who are not real estate owners, and we can therefore narrow down the consideration of the matter by viewing it only from their standpoint.

These real estate owners can be divided not two classes, consisting first of those

In response to an inquiry, one of the most prominent political economists of Kentucky has written a letter on the subject of the proposed Constitutional amendment, which letter THE LEDGER is pleased to lay before its readers, and to urge the importance of every citizen casting his vote in favor of the measure. The letter is as follows:

I am in receipt of your favor of the measure. It is not a receipt of your favor of the measure. In me setter is as follows:

I am in receipt of your favor of the sixth instances are a sixth instances and in receipt of your favor of the sixth instances are a sixth instances are a sixth instances are a sixth in receipt of the sixth in receipt t the election next Tuesday.

The question as to whether or not the mendment ought to be adopted may be diffy put as follows trout:

It will be seen from the above statement—Pirst—That the question of taxation of property for state and county purposes is not affected by the amendment, which,
if adopted, will leave the Constitutional provisions applicable to state and county attests still in force, which now requires all personal property, no matter whether
all personal property, no matter whether
same taxes are lestate.

It know many of these people. They have plenty of sense and don't have to told where their interests lie. They mate taxes still in force, which now requires
to the many times
over in their participation in the prosame taxes as real estate.

Second—That the question of taxation of the property as we do that the uitmate taxes is like they in the same taxes as real estate. assessed at the same rate, and to pay the same taxes are rail estate.

Second—That in case the amendment is adopted the cities and towns will not be free from the restrictions now imber composed upon them, and from which they posed upon them, and from which they raise seeking relief by the amendment, until the Legislature shall enact a law, governeral in its provisions, conferring on all cities and towns of the same class.
